Family escapes early morning blaze in Kiln, but beloved family dog perishes

BY STACEY CATO

A massive house fire -- fueled by strong winds -- destroyed a Kiln home early Monday morning.

Officials got the call just after 1:30 a.m. Monday.

According to police radio, the first report was of cars under a carport that had caught fire. Shortly after, dispatch came back informing emergency officials that the Highway 603 home was also engulfed in flames.

"They were in the house, but they were able to escape," Emergency Management Director Brian "Hootie" Adam said at the scene. "From what I understand, the occupants went out and saw the flames near the back shed, then went out the front door and called 9-1-1."

Kevin Haas and his wife, Lisa, have been married for 32 years, Kevin said. They built their country dream home, which survived Hurricane Katrina, down a long, curved, muddy driveway off Hwy. 603 just past Hwy. 43 about 18 years ago. They said they moved in shortly after their daughter was born.

"That's our whole life in there," Kevin said as he watched the flames tear through the walls and roof of his two-story home.

"Thirty-two years of memories and things collected throughout our time just gone. We now have nothing."

Kevin was not at home when the fire started, but some of his family members were. Four people, including two young boys, ran from the flames, some shoeless and wearing nothing but what they had on when they jumped out of the bed.

Lisa Haas said they first noticed the fire near or in the shed, which was attached to their home and carport. The cars parked under it were also ablaze.

"The next thing you know, the house was on fire," Lisa said. "It was that quick."

The Haases reminisced about their last week in their home.

"Our older children had just come in this past week from college for the Thanksgiving holidays," Kevin said. "They just left to go back to school."

No injuries were reported, but the Haases said their dog, "Country", was inside and is believed to have perished in the fire.

Three other dogs were outside of the home; however, they have not yet been found.

Numerous volunteer firefighters from north Hancock County spent hours battling the blaze.

The exact cause of the fire is under investigation. A fundraising account has been established to help the family. Anyone interested in helping can go to <https://www.gofundme.co>

Mayoral Candidates:
Incumbent Mike Smith (D) -

Bio: I am 55 years old and have been married to my high school sweetheart, Melanie, for over 35 years and have two sons, Michael Jr. and Joshua. We have 3 grandsons, Trace, David and Noah. We built our home in Waveland in 1989, and have lived here ever since. I began my employment with the City of Waveland Fire Department in January 1988, and was appointed to the position of Assistant Fire Chief for the City of Waveland in 1999. Prior to being appointed Assistant Fire Chief I served in many capacities: as an Auxiliary Firefighter, full-time Firefighter, Lieutenant/Training Officer, Fire Captain and Assistant Fire Chief.

Upon earning the position of Assistant Chief, I was solely responsible for all training functions, evaluation of requirements, development of training programs and standard operating procedures for our department. I also managed the fire inspection and code enforcement functions of the fire department. I also served as Associate Fire Instructor for the Mississippi State Fire Academy from 1992 - 2002 and have taught many classes through multiple jurisdictions within the 6 coastal counties.

I was appointed to lead the Storm Ready Community Task Force in 2000. In 2002, the United States Department of Commerce National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration awarded the City of Waveland with the status of being a Nationally Recognized Storm Ready Community. Waveland received this recognition for the ability to respond to and mitigate the impact of weather hazards to the citizens and community of Waveland. Waveland was the first Storm Ready Community on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

I have served as the manager of the Waveland Blighted Property Program and have worked with the guidelines of State Statue 21-19-11 to clean up over 350 blighted or abandoned properties within the city. I am active member of the Waveland Civic Association and have been for over 10 years, and served as secretary of that association from 1999-2002. I am member of the Association of Floodplain Managers of Mississippi and MCDEMA (Mississippi Civil Defense/Emergency Management Association). I was the Ward 3 appointee to the Keep Waveland Beautiful Committee before becoming mayor.

I completed the Advanced Certified Municipal Officials Course (CMO), the University of Southern Mississippi True South Basic Economic Development Course and was the recipient of the 2017 Charles Ueltschey Scholarship for Municipal and County Elected Officials.

My work experiences and education have been focused on better serving every Waveland citizen and visitor. As your mayor, I have completed courses on governmental leadership and learned how to govern a city within the unique rules and regulations on local, state and national levels. I have taken the opportunities afforded me as your mayor to form relationships and friendships with officials on all these levels. This first term has laid a solid foundation for me to continue to move Waveland forward in the next four years.

What specific goals do you have in mind should you win?

Our Next 4 Years I will:

- Continue to be persistent working with real estate professionals to pursue programs that will encourage new residential development within the city and take advantage of the fair and marketable property values we have to offer.
- Continue to work with our state and federal leadership to reduce the current elevations and find funds to assist in the support of commercial development along Coleman Ave. and Highway 90. As well as continue to work with the Mississippi Development Authority to develop a façade program and grant application to assist in the rejuvenation of Highway 90.
- Assist our building department to reduce our Community Rating System (CRS) back to a level 5. This was recently increased due to a change in the regulation manual and the way the points are scored. This will allow our flood insurance premiums to be reduced equal to pre-change levels.
- Use the newly dedicated infrastructure money as match to increase expenditures on projects such as roads, ditches, water, sewer and sidewalks.
- Continue to expand our ongoing neighborhood watch program which was revamped in 2017. This plan includes continuing with neighborhood meetings, increasing patrols, community signage and more interaction between our citizens and our police.
- Create the Waveland Redevelopment Commission (WRC), The WRC will provide support for existing and new businesses and build public-private investment partnerships to foster economic, cultural and social growth. Working under the guidance of the Mayor and Board of Aldermen, the WRC will, through the use of federal, state and local programs and utilization of funding sources, promote economic development and future growth within the city.

These components are vital to building the foundation that will welcome businesses in years to come. Businesses invest where there are people; together we will continue to rebuild Waveland one home at a time.

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution?

- Elevations are our biggest challenge. Waveland has approximately 90% of the city in a special flood hazard area, most of which was not prior to Hurricane Katrina. Most of the homes north of the CSX railroad were in a non-flood zone and are now in an AE 17 or AE 18. Most of those homes are below that elevation, meaning that when the Biggert-Waters Act comes into full play in 2021, their flood insurance alone will be very costly and in some cases unaffordable. I have been working with South Mississippi Planning and Development District to remap areas of the city most affected and from what I am being told it will drop up to 3 feet, which will save homeowners thousands. Those maps should be out for public review in 2019 before the flood insurance act is implemented. This was a 4 year program but thanks to Congressman Palazzo who authored and assisted in the passage of the Homeowners Affordability Act that extended that time period to 10 years.
- Drainage has always been an issue in Waveland because we are so flat. I looked as far back as 1988 and citizens were picketing city hall because of drainage issues. We just completed the $6.9 million project to assist in the reconstruction of our major drainage ways. That project began in 2009, and unfortunately the contractor filed bankruptcy 2 years ago before it was completed. The city until recently was involved in litigation with the bonding company and therefore we were not allowed to take over maintenance until recently. Since then we have implemented an aggressive plan to clean those drainage issues. This plan will increase during the winter when grass cutting will be slower.

What is your overall vision for the city of Waveland?

I would first like to say that 2018 has started with much momentum and has been a very prosperous year thus far, I am even more excited to report that the future outlook looks even brighter. My vision for this wonderful city is a clean, well maintained place to call home. I see both main gateways as being very warm and welcoming and giving a person a sense of arrival. I see great small shops and restaurants along Coleman Ave like before, but with more of a beach side theme along with amenities that would draw more people to our beachfront. I see a Highway 90 with continued business growth both retail and non-retail. Waveland has always been home to many second home residents and they are currently building at a fast pace.

John "Tommy" Longo (I) -
Bio: John "Tommy" Longo was born to John and Jean Longo of Waveland, MS. He attended St. Clare Catholic Elementary, St. Stanislaus High School, Pearl River Community College and Mississippi College studying business administration and accounting on football scholarships, where he won a football championship under Coach JC Arban. Years later, he went to the University of Southern Mississippi, where he earned a degree as a therapist specializing in special needs.

Longo

Tommy worked in his family's processing and trucking business for twenty-five years, starting at the bottom as a processor and working in all positions - on the loading docks, as a truck driver, in marketing/sales - before moving up to vice president. Tommy worked for fifteen years with Gulf Coast Mental Health as a therapist, where he began the facilitation of the state's first at-risk-youth program. Tommy served as alderman and mayor pro-temp for the City of Waveland for four years. He was later elected mayor, and served for twelve years. Tommy has been recognized around the country as an expert leader in disaster recovery and rebuilding communities.

Tommy has five brothers and sisters who were born and raised in Waveland. He has been married to Marcia Spencer for twenty-five years. He is blessed with seven children and three grandchildren.

What specific goals do you have in mind should you win? Tommy's main goals are to raise Waveland's economic standing and create community-building opportunities for all of Waveland's citizens. Tommy has a detailed economic development plan, with focus and vision encompassing downtown, Highway 90, and the corridors entering the city. This plan includes beautification and community development that keeps our city's charm and safeguards our neighborhoods while supporting and bolstering existing local businesses. Tommy also has a city wide maintenance plan for drainage and infrastructure as well as plans for community and recreational opportunities for youth and senior citizens.

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution? Tommy believes there is not one single problem our city is facing, but one of his greatest concerns is the rising utility cost and property taxes, which, without the offset of economic development, will affect our senior citizens, middle class, and overall economic growth.

One of the simplest ways to offset these costs is developing our underserved annexed area. When Tommy previously served in the office of mayor, grants were in place for the annexed area - grants that can easily be reapplied for. Also, the annexed area is now part of the economic development zone, which can be utilized. Tommy has a hydraulically modeled drainage plan from the Army Corps of Engineers for the entire city and the annexed area that can easily be put into place. Additionally, Tommy has been in contact with developers who are ready to come to Waveland. From previous experience, Tommy knows how to market our city and how to apply for and receive the grants that are needed to help major developers, such as the ones he acquired to build the currently operating Super Walmart and Lowe's.

What is your overall vision for the city of Waveland? : My overall vision for the City of Waveland is a thriving community where our neighborhoods are safe - where my children and grandchildren can ride their bikes to the beach and fish off of the Garfield-Ladner Pier without concern. I want to see a Waveland where retirees from the military bases on the coast still look to retire, with its charm and reasonable cost of living. I envision a Waveland that citizens want to live in, because this is the city I love.

Real debate is lacking on college campuses

Colleges and universities are supposed to be places where curiosity is developed and intellectual debate is encouraged. But with each passing day, it appears that the debate part of the equation is limited in favor of indoctrination, or at a minimum, silence.

Most people, regardless of their political leanings, understand the ideological beliefs of college professors. One 2016 survey from Econ Journal Watch showed liberal professors outnumber conservatives by a ratio of 12 to 1. Business and economic schools tend to have a narrower margin, though they still lean left, while social sciences and humanities are even more liberal than the median. The same survey showed liberals in history departments outnumber conservatives 34 to 1. None of this is surprising.

The same schools that pride themselves on diversity of race, gender, ethnicity, sexual orientation, and every other box the Departments of Diversity and Inclusion can check appear to have little interest in diversity of thought. However, the issue isn't that most professors are liberal; that alone is not the problem. The issue is that everyone must conform to those "preferred" beliefs. Or, at a minimum, pressure is put on students to keep their differing opinions to themselves. At least that is how college students feel.

In a recent survey of full-time undergraduate students by McLaughlin & Associates on behalf of Yale's William F. Buckley, Jr. Program, a majority, 52 percent, said professors often use class time to express their social or political beliefs completely unrelated to the subject of the class. And 53 percent said they often "felt intimidated" in sharing ideas or opinions that were different from their professors.

The problem extends beyond professors. The students who hold those majority views on many campuses often don't want debate either. Fifty-nine percent of students agreed that a college "should forbid people from speaking on campus who have a history of engaging in hate speech." I certainly don't know anyone who condones hate speech, assuming they can define it, but when the subjectivity is left to college administrators, we are often left with anything right-of-center being classified as "hate speech." A smaller minority, 33 percent of college students, believe that physical violence is justified in preventing speakers who espouse such "minority" views. Even if it is a smaller percentage, 33 percent is still a worrying number.

Simply put, free speech is not winning on college campuses like it should. Also troubling, 38 percent of students favor speech codes, like those at Delta State University in Cleveland, that restrict free speech. According to student regulations, "words, behavior, and/or actions which inflict mental or emotional distress on others and/or disrupt the educational environment at Delta State University" could possibly "subject violators to appropriate disciplinary action, including suspension and expulsion."

This leads to many other questions. What causes mental and emotional distress among college students? Seeing as how traumatized many students were after the election of Donald Trump in 2016, is it safe to assume that a

Are the holiday blues worsening?

Without fail, the first signs of sad chatter and holiday blues begin to appear as Thanksgiving Day approaches. Thanksgiving Day, Christmas, New Year's Day, Easter and all the holidays and holidays are exclamation points reminding us that, as we grow older, the number of our older-generation dear relatives and friends grows smaller each year. This is one of the prime and universal causes of the holiday blues, otherwise known as the anniversary syndrome.

Aggravating this already tough, emotional atmosphere, natural disasters deal a dreary hand to thousands of families across the nation and indeed the world. Some years, such as 2017, offered us a Hurricane Harvey that devastated Houston and its environs, flooding them with 40 inches and even 60.58 inches of record rains in Nederland, Texas on August 17 and 3 following days. Hundreds of thousands of homes were flooded and over 30,000 people were evacuated. At $125 billion, Harvey tied Katrina in being the costliest hurricanes to visit the United States.

How do those afflicted folks deal with the holiday

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE
by Fr. Jerome Ledoux, SVD

blues? They are dealing with it with the utmost difficulty, considering the human toll and widespread material destruction. One can at least thank God that Harvey was the first major hurricane to make landfall in the United States since Hurricane Wilma on October 24, 2005. We are grateful for the 12-year break between monster storms.

This year's catastrophes have extra makings for a bad round of the holiday blues. Causing over 1 million locals to flee its September 14 landfall, days-long Hurricane Florence battered the Carolinas mercilessly, severely damaging tobacco, seafood and poultry farms with unending torments.

Hurricane Michael plowed through the Florida Panhandle with surprisingly destructive force on October 10, 2018, ruining Thanksgiving for another region.

Wildfires have charred California with deadly, apocalyptic fury that is usually less widespread than destructive flooding, but destruction by fire is cruelly efficient, fast-moving, complete and irreversible wherever it strikes. A town of 27,000, even Paradise was lost, mostly reduced to ashes. Choose your poison of fire or water.

Unbelievably, the cause of a wildfire can be anything from a spark set off by the hammer of a man working on a fence amid dry vegetation, a backyard barbecue, workers cutting wires with a torch, a tossed cigarette, a spark from a rock struck by a power mower, a hot vehicle tailpipe, a power line felled by the wind. Seemingly handcuffed at every turn, what is one to do in everyday life? Many fires were started by lines, poles and other tools of Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

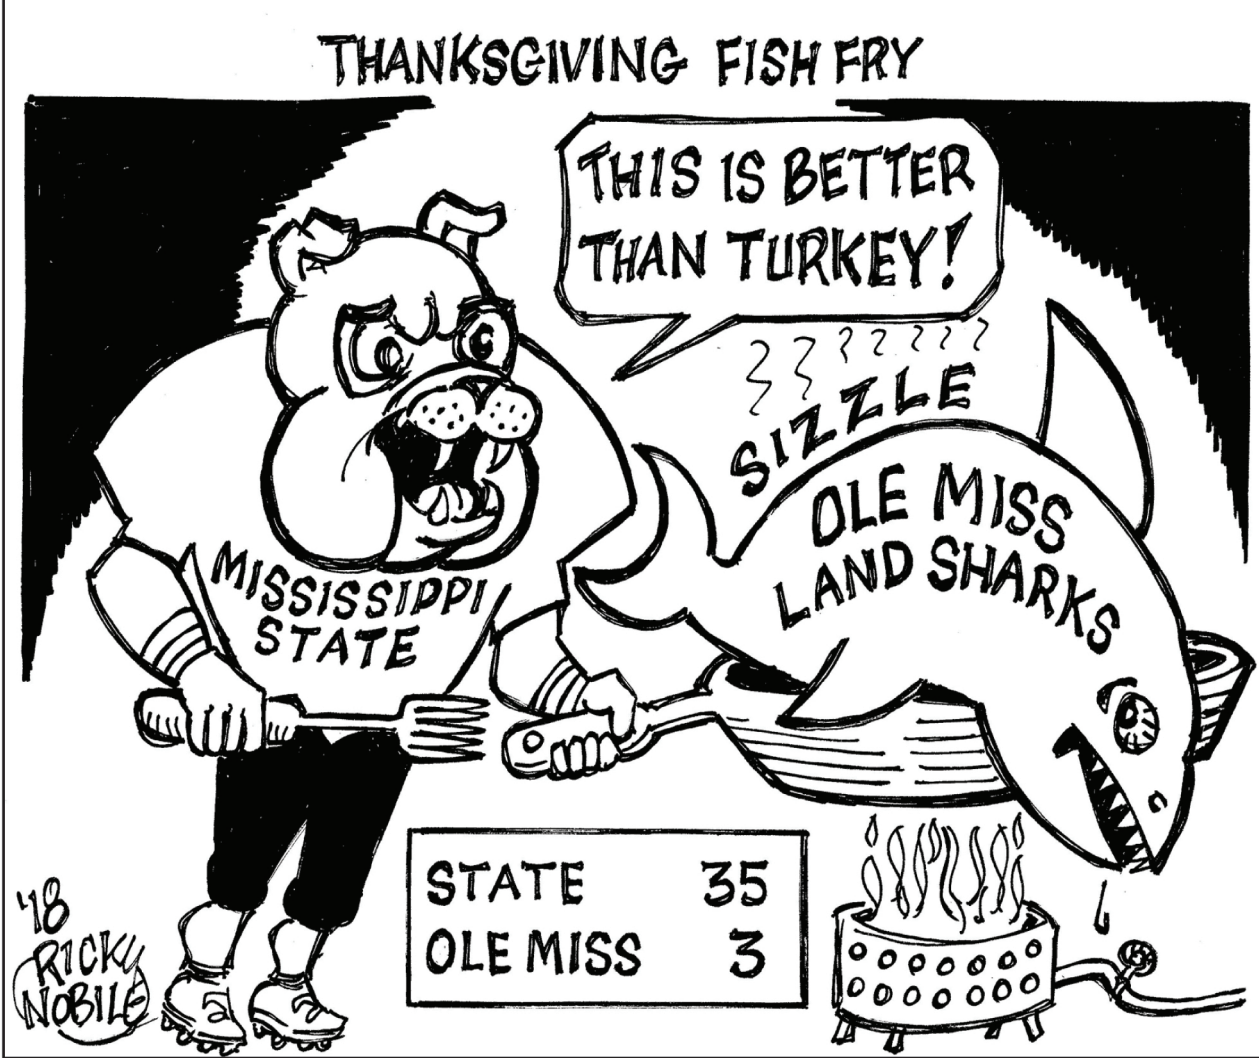

In cruel irony, the rains, that could have prevented the start of the wildfires, came only after fires had wreaked their ruin. Further, rain falling on torched, bared hills is producing mud and mudslides that will obliterate forensic evidence and the remains of victims of the fires. Rain has literally muddled the body count. The confirmed death toll of 82 will go up, but no one knows how many of the 700 listed as missing are duplicate listings or misspelled listings or simply have fled the area.

Thanksgiving Day in the northeast was the coldest in 100 years. This is part of the kind of weather in the northeast and northwest that contributes heavily to the annual affliction of Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD). Thus, SAD is both a physical event triggered by unpleasant, depressive weather, and an emotional event brought on by insufferable, destructive quirks of nature such as monstrous storms with winds, deluges and the prohibitive, rampaging terror of uncontrollable wildfires.

Need we even mention those storms that rage within individual human beings, that are present, set and cemented inside us independently of foul

The Government Tries Yet Again to Regulate Tobacco Products

The Food and Drug Administration just announced it would once again try to regulate tobacco products.

This time the target of the agency's regulatory hand is what it believes is the growing menace of flavored e-cigarettes and other tobacco products used by young people who've turned to vaping and smoking. The FDA said about 3.6 million kids under age 18 now admit they use e-cigarettes.

That's an alarming number and is worrisome because FDA commissioner Dr. Scott Gottlieb has noted that almost all current smokers started when they were kids. At their

by Trudy Lieberman Rural Health News Services

core, the FDA's proposals are aimed at keeping kids from smoking today so they don't become smokers tomorrow.

The FDA has taken two actions to curtail young customers' appetites for the market's new tobacco products. It did not issue an outright ban on e-cigarettes that had been widely expected and that some anti-tobacco advocates hoped for. Instead, the agency said stores could continue to sell e-cigarettes but only from closed-off areas that would not be accessible to teenagers. Whether this will keep teens from getting their hands on the e-cigarettes is anyone's guess.

Can a store, for instance, comply with the new rule if it simply hides its e-cigarettes under the counter, out of sight of the teens wanting to buy them? The answer is not clear. FDA Commissioner Gottlieb says such a strategy would not be sufficient. He told the New York Times, "What we are envisioning is a separate room or a walled-off area. It needs to be a separate structure. A curtain won't cut it."

The FDA also proposed a ban on menthol cigarettes and flavored cigars, two traditional products that, according to the Times, disproportionately harm African Americans. Black leaders have accused the industry of targeting African Americans with their marketing campaigns.

While these are laudable goals from a public health standpoint, it's a long tough fight to make them a reality if past efforts to curb smoking are any guide.

Hancock man escapes trailer fire unharmed

BY STACEY CATO
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

A Hancock County man escaped unharmed from a trailer fire Monday evening while firefighters used extreme tactics in an attempt to help save his mobile home.

Emergency crews received the call at 5:13 p.m. of a structure fire located on Queensland St. in the Springfield Subdivision in Hancock County. When firefighters arrived, they developed a plan, Bayside Fire Chief Tony Johnson said, and decided to attack the blaze in a rare attempt.

"Trailers go up fast," Johnson said, "so we made a quick judgment call."

An interior attack was used to help fight the fire, Johnson said, with two teams of firemen; one on the outside and one on the inside. This technique involves firefighters running into the burning structure and fighting the flames from within, while another crew fights them from the exterior of the home.

"Since we had additional manpower, we decided to do the interior attack in hopes to help save as much of the home as we could," Johnson said. "We try to keep the homeowners in mind."

Adding to an already risky scenario, Johnson said he was informed several guns were in the burning blaze. When weapons, such as guns, or ammo overheat they can explode, causing loud, dangerous pops. These pops can sometimes be compared to a loaded gun firing.

Luckily, the interior attack helped stave off further harm, Johnson said, and nine guns were recovered safely after the fire was extinguished.

Although the home is now uninhabitable, crews were able to save some of the structure from the flames with their brave attempts.

"The home suffered heavy smoke and water damage but we were able to keep the fire from spreading to one of the bedrooms and the kitchen," Johnson said. "Now the occupants are able to salvage some of their belongings."

I was actually surprised it wasn't further along when we showed up," Johnson went on to explain. "Usually when it's a trailer fire it goes fast and the structure is not left standing."

The Bay St. Louis, West Hancock and Clermont fire departments assisted Bayside Fire & Rescue at the scene.

Johnson said they were able to fight the fire so rapidly because of the teamwork executed. Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Monty Strong echoed his remarks.

"When we work together," Strong said. "we can get more accomplished. We aren't worried about stepping on each others toes, we are worried about the people and saving as much as we can for them."

Officials believe the fire started from a space heater in the home.

Both Johnson and Strong urged residents to exercise extreme caution during the winter months especially when using portable space heaters.

"We've seen an increase in structure fires lately," Johnson said. "Not in my area specifically but many in the north end of the county. If you exercise caution by following the recommended fire safety tips, trust me you'll sleep easier at night."

The State Fire Marshal's Office recommends the following heating fire safety tips:

- All heating equipment should be UL® approved and cleaned and inspected by a qualified professional prior to being used each year.
- Remember to keep clothes, drapes, and anything else combustible at least 3 feet away from all heating equipment, especially space heaters.
- Inspect the space heater's power cord for damage, fraying or heat. If the cord inspection reveals any of these issues, the heater should be replaced. Proper cleaning is essential and should be done regularly.

- Never use space heaters while you sleep or in areas where children may be without adult supervision.
- Do not leave space heaters on when you are away from home.
- Always unplug space heaters when they are not in use. The heater should also be equipped with a tip over shut-off switch.
- Use only traditional heating equipment.
- Never use a stove or oven to heat living spaces. Kerosene is a poor choice for heating as it will give off poisonous fumes.
- Have chimney flues cleaned and inspected by qualified personnel.
- Have a spark screen that is age appropriate for all individuals using any area to be heated by a fireplace.
- Have a three-foot "kid-free zone" around open fires and space heaters.
- Burn only approved materials in a fireplace or wood-burning stove; never burn paper or trash in a fireplace or wood burning stove.
- Should a fire break out in the home, have an emergency evacuation plan for the family to follow and have a designated meeting place for all family members. Once everyone is outside the burning home, call 911 and don't go back inside the home under any circumstances.

College

Trump sign, t-shirt, or a Make America Great Again hat would cause serious distress for a young student who has never had his/her political views questioned? While you and I may find this patently illogical and an illegitimate cause for emotional distress, these are the considerations we face when a school has speech codes. Ironically, at a place where whole departments are created in the name of diversity, a majoritarian mob of professors and students may prevent minority expressions.

Open discussions and free exchange of divergent ideas are becoming rare on college campuses. When there are open discussions," it is generally limited to "discussing" why conservatives are wrong, hateful, and bigoted. Such discussions are purposely one way and dialogue is not permitted.

For more than a century, the American university system was considered the best in the world for providing a classical liberal undergraduate education. Students received a well-rounded worldview and were prepared for success in life, regardless of their personal philosophy on civil society and government. For the sake of our future generations, we must reclaim our universities from this liberal high jacking. We must demand that students have the right to express themselves freely, no matter how unpopular such expressions may be.

weighed in on both proposals, challenging the FDA's authority to impose restrictions on where e-cigarettes could be sold and to ban menthol cigarettes and flavored cigars. A lawyer representing the National Association of Convenience Stores, a trade group, told the Times the agency can't discriminate against one specific type of retail outlet, "and that's what they're trying to do here."

Murray Garnick, the general counsel for Altria Group, which sells vaping products, said there would be a lengthy debate over the proposed prohibition on menthol cigarettes. "We continue to believe that a total ban on menthol cigarettes or flavored cigars would be an extreme measure not supported by the science and evidence," he told the Times.

With menthol cigarettes accounting for about one-third of cigarette sales in the U.S., you can be sure the debate will be drawn-out and full of misrepresentations if the past public debates on tobacco regulation are any guide.

It's instructive to look back a couple of decades at another well-publicized effort to curb smoking. The FDA commissioner at the time, Dr. David Kessler, said that taking on the tobacco industry was the most challenging part of his job.

In the 1990s, Kessler and a team of FDA investigators worked with informants who revealed that tobacco companies had purposely manipulated the nicotine levels in their cigarettes.

Kessler said at the time, "We asked the question of whether nicotine is a drug. So it's a question of intent: What did the tobacco companies know? No one had ever gone to ask that question."

Kessler and the FDA had a few victories: the big settlement state attorneys general won that has funded many public health projects in the states and eliminating Joe Camel from billboards. But they did not win the ultimate battle. The Supreme Court, by one vote, ruled that the FDA could not regulate tobacco as a drug.

Kessler said years later: "I underestimated the power of this industry. They have their tentacles in government, in media, and the scientific and medical communities. They had a former FDA commissioner on retainer. They got the Congress to hold hearings to investigate us."

It's unlikely the power of the tobacco industry has diminished since Kessler left office in 1997. And therein lies a cautionary tale for current FDA regulators who are tiptoeing ever so carefully through the regulatory mine field surrounding big tobacco.

Beyond all comprehension, the University of Oregon is waging war against Thanksgiving, labeling it racist and colonialist. Some students in other colleges and universities are babbling similar nonsense. Speaking of holiday blues, these are the kind of people who walk around with a mouthful of bitter lemon juice. For a welcome change, members from both sides of the U.S. Congress are responding stiffly that Thanksgiving is not a partisan, divisive celebration, but a day for family, fun and football. One might even be so far out as to give thanks to God.

for seven years

What specific goals do you have in mind should you win?:

Trapani

- Fully staff our police department and fire department
- Create a Strategic Plan for Economic Growth to recruit new residents and businesses
- Require ongoing, preventative maintenance for our city's roads and drainage system
- Repair and maintain the Garfield Ladner Pier
- Renovate and update our city's parks and playgrounds
- Reduce the cost of Flood insurance to pre-2018 rates
- Be financially responsible with Taxpayers' money
- Bring Transparency to city government
- Maintain a balanced budget while keeping control of rising Utility bills
- Apply for federal, regional, and state grants to supplement the city's budget

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution? I hear the same concerns from the residents that I did four years ago. There has been very little growth over the past four years. Waveland is stagnant! We need to revitalize our city! We need to create a Strategic Plan for Growth. Waveland not only needs to attract new residents and businesses, but Waveland needs to keep the current residents and businesses. More businesses have closed on Highway 90 then have opened. Coleman Ave is still filled with empty lots and for sale signs. Veteran policemen and city department heads have left Waveland. The residents of Waveland deserve better. Waveland cannot afford four more years of the same.

What is your overall vision for the city of Waveland? My vision is to preserve the small town charm of our city and to improve on the services each resident expects from city government.

My vision also includes:

- A bustling Coleman Ave filled with businesses that serve our residents as well as attracting visitors
- A very busy beach area around the Garfield Ladner Pier that is filled with children and their families enjoying all that area has to offer; volleyball, fishing, water activities, and some ideas I have for future attractions.
- Hwy. 90 and Hwy. 603 corridors that are attractive and inviting to visitors to our city
- A booming Hwy. 90 business section where all

Ward 1 Aldermen candidates

Incumbent Jeremy Burke (I) :

Bio: I'm married to the former Kristen Tusa. We have two children, Gabriel and Ruth, and have lived in Ward 1 for the past decade. I am a graduate of St. Stanislaus and the University of Southern Mississippi and have also graduated from the Certified Municipal Officer Advanced Program. I have also completed a number of additional classes such as Municipal Law, Municipal Ethics and Governmental Accounting.

I'm a member of the Waveland Civic Association, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Old Town Merchants Association and other community and school organizations. I will use the past four years of this municipal experience as well as knowledge gained as a small business owner to continue to move the city forward.

Burke

What specific goals do you have in mind should you win? Within the first year, I hope to have the Nicholson Avenue paving and pedestrian walkway completed as well as implement the comprehensive road paving project just acquired by the city. The continuation of improving the sewerage infrastructure in an effort to keep waste water costs down is also a priority. I want Waveland to be a walkable, pedestrian-friendly city.

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution? A big problem that we currently have is the attractiveness of our city. We want it to be attractive to its current residents and business owners, but we also want to attract new and different businesses, new residents and even second-home homeowners. One solution to this is to continue our efforts in going after blight. We need to work with property owners in their efforts to clean up. Also, we need to work with current residents as well as incoming residents and businesses to aid them through the building process.

What is your overall vision for the city of Waveland? My overall vision for the city of Waveland is to be the charming beach community that both past and current generations fell in love with.

Jay Fountain (D) -

Bio: My name is Jay Fountain, I am a graduate of Bay High School in Bay St. Louis. I attended Jefferson Davis Junior College in Biloxi where I studied Business Education.

I am married to Diane Keating Fountain. I have one daughter, Jessica, who is married to Scott Peterson, and three grandchildren, Brandon, Jacob, and Camryn.

I currently own and operate Fountain Plumbing and have done so for 28 years as well as Fountain Fireworks for over 30 years. I am currently the office manager at the American Legion Post 77 in Waveland where I am serving as Commander of the Sons of the American Legion. For several years I had the opportunity to work for the city of Waveland serving on the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Fountain

What specific goals do you have in mind should you win? My goals for Waveland are to have a Community Center / Welcome Center. I would also like to see a Waveland Chamber of Commerce, which would help all businesses in Waveland grow and succeed, including new businesses. I want to see a Police Department in Waveland with a dispatch officer available 24-hours a day. Having a post office in Waveland, possibly on Coleman Avenue would be a convenience for the residents as well as part of a plan to bring back Coleman Avenue. My plan for the residents of Ward 1 is to listen to your interests and concerns and to always be available to take or return your calls.

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution? The biggest problems facing the city of Waveland are drainage and roads. Major improvements need to be done in both of these areas.

Our new drainage system that was recently installed is already overgrown with weeds and debris. This problem is causing slow drainage and therefore flooding. Listening to the residents of Waveland enables their elected officials to become aware of what the problem is and where it exists. Open communication is the key to addressing these problems.

What is your overall vision for the city of Waveland? My overall vision for the city of Waveland is to beautify the streets by working with R.S.V.P. and other volunteers with a comprehensive plan to make Waveland a city to be proud of.

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution? There are no long range plans; no accountability; no sense of urgency; non-responsiveness; and insufficient communication. I am NCCEF Certified in Mill writing, have a strong employment background in industrial iron work and CNC machinist.

What specific goals do you have in mind should you win? If I am elected as the Ward 2 Alderman for the city of Waveland, I plan to operate on a people-first mentality for city government, which is providing 100% transparency to the citizens. I would hold quarterly meetings to address the needs and concerns of citizens, organize a local business forum for local businesses in Waveland, build a strong platform for the youth and seniors in our city, which will encourage entrepreneurship. I would like to assist the city of Waveland with establishing an identity by organizing beautification projects and securing grants to establish more recreational activities for kids and young adults, such as the Heritage Grant. I would diligently work to reduce the high water bill rates in our city, end wasteful spending, and lead by example by using a portion of my salary to invest back into the city.

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution? In my opinion, one of the biggest problems facing the city of Waveland is the lack of transparency and accountability for political officials. As Alderman, I plan to speak up and speak out, while ensuring that the citizens are never left in the dark.

What is your overall vision for the city of Waveland? My overall vision for the city of Waveland, is to pursue economic opportunities for the citizens, address issues that are holding our city back, build a city image to attract more homeowners and new sustainable businesses, strengthen the infrastructure while embracing bold development, develop and promote strategies that support smart growth, and identify development opportunities for recreational amenities for young people and our seniors.

Incumbent Bobby Richardson (R) :

Bio: I am a 1981 graduate of Bay High School. I have been married to my wife Melissa for 31 years. Together we have two daughters and three grandchildren. I have acquired my experience over the past four years serving as the current Alderman where I have been able to take advantage of multiple courses through the Mississippi Municipal League such as city finance, city law, and economic development. These courses have helped me a lot in understanding the workings of everyday city government.

What specific goals do you have in mind should you win? Some goals I have if I were to be re-elected are to continue to work closely with the building department's blighted property program to clean up properties throughout the city especially our Highway 90 corridors. I firmly believe that first impressions are critical when trying to sell our city to potential investors. Another goal would be to create more activities for the youth of our city so they will always have something to keep them involved.

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution? The biggest problem I see facing the city is the development of the Coleman Avenue District due to the FEMA base flood elevation. Hopefully with the help from the work that SMPDD (South Mississippi Planning and Development District) is doing in trying to remap the coastal counties and lowering the base flood elevation, it will potentially give relief to business developers on construction and insurance cost.

What is your overall vision for the city of Waveland? My vision for our city is that the completion of the lighthouse will become the much needed catalyst to draw potential businesses to the downtown Coleman Avenue district.

Ward 3 Aldermen candidates:

Incumbent Shane LaFontaine (D):

Bio: I'm a fourth-generation Waveland resident, proud to call Waveland home, and have lived here all of my life. I have been married to Raquel Lafontaine for the past 21 years and together we have four sons and two grandchildren.

I have served as Ward 3 Alderman for the past eight years and Mayor Pro Tem over the past four years. For three years I served as Waveland's appointment to the Hancock County Utility Authority. During my first term in office I completed the Certified Elected Officials program thru the MS Municipal League.

For the past 9 years I have been employed with the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission where I started as a rail conductor for Port Bienville Railroad and currently serve as Railroad Manager.

Prior to working for the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, I was co-owner of the family business, Lafontaine Construction, LLC

It has been an honor and privilege to serve as Alderman for the past 8 years and I'm asking for your support ?on December 4th? to continue to serve as your Ward 3 Alderman.

What specific goals do you have in mind should you win? Some of my goals for the next four years are to continue to see the city move forward with removal of blighted properties. Building sidewalks on heavily traveled streets to ensure the safety of our children and residents is important to me I would also want to continue with sewer improvements to reduce infiltration and costly treatment of rainwater. I have worked on and will continue to look for funds and ways to build a public boat launch. I would like to see the City maintain the working relationships established with the Hancock County Supervisors , Gulf Regional Planning Commission and many others. I will also focus on getting residential areas to drain to the recently completed major drainage ditch project with the big hurdle of undersized or improper culverts. As Alderman I will continue to monitor that expenditures remain below revenues to maintain a balanced budget, as well as maintaining the cash reserve fund.

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution?

Waveland faces the same problem that many small municipalities face, it's the generation of revenue. Revenues are generated through property tax and sales tax. The city needs more residents and businesses to generate the money needed for personnel and projects. To address the problem the city has offered tax incentives. We need to present a clean city by continuing to focus on removing blighted properties with many more to come. The City recently hired a litter control officer that works hand in hand with Public Works to pick-up trash along the streets. The good news is over the past couple of years we have seen an increase in residential building and the mill value increased. As revenue increases it will allow for an increase of services such as drainage, grass cutting, beautification, and increasing staff of police, fire and street departments.

What is your overall vision for the city of Waveland? My vision over the next 4 years is keeping the City safe and quaint, but progressing with future growth is vital and necessary.

Don M. Siebenkittel (R) :

Bio: Hi, I'm Don Siebenkittel, seeking your help and vote to be the next Alderman for Ward Three in the City of Waveland. I am now and have been actively involved with local county and municipal agencies including law enforcement as well as civic organizations both as a professional and volunteer. My law enforcement experience began in 1992 with the Pearl River County Sheriff's Dept. and continued in 2003 with the Hancock County Sheriff's Office where I remain as a part-time deputy with the rank of corporal. Additionally, I have worked with both the Waveland Fire and Police Departments and particularly with the city's litter control and code enforcement efforts.

In December of 2017, I was hired as the Code Enforcement Officer for the City of Bay St. Louis. In the following 11 months I've closed nearly 400 blighted property cases at no cost to the City. My work as an active volunteer with Hancock County Beautification has covered several years, and will continue along with my participation in coastal clean-up activities. I have become well acquainted with the internal and external workings of most city and county government departments which has given me the opportunity to learn about local government revenue/budgeting practices, management and policies. My career has involved exposure to both criminal and civil law which is valuable in carrying out the duties and responsibilities of a Ward Alderman.

What specific goals do you have in mind should you win? Among the initial issues that has led to my candidacy for Alderman is four years of frustration attempting to get the City to properly maintain roads and storm ditches. There are no easy answers to Hurricane Katrina recovery, but our City appears to be lagging significantly behind other Gulf Coast communities. It is my firm opinion that I possess the energy, experience and motivation to help restore Waveland as an ever-improving place to live, work and worship. As your Alderman I will be devoted to working with other elected officials, local business and concerned citizens to achieve that goal.

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution? The biggest problem facing the City of Waveland that I constantly hear from residents is no customer service. Departments don't return phone calls and ordinances and zoning codes not being followed with selective enforcement or the good old boy system. My solution is employee evaluations and training.

What is your overall vision for the city of Waveland? My overall vision for the City of Waveland is it's past due to bring back Integrity, Honesty and Professionalism. I Hope of course that you will honor me with your vote.

Ward 4 Aldermen candidates:

Sarah Cure Clark (D):

Bio: So, a little about me. Waveland is my hometown. I was born (Gulfport)

After college, job opportunities took me to Alabama where I lived for five years. I worked as a features writer for The Huntsville Times in Huntsville and was then hired by Budweiser Busch Distributing in Mobile as a brand manager.

I moved back to Mississippi (Waveland) three years ago to start a family with my husband of four years, Jeremy Clark. We are the proud parents to our son, Jack, who will be 10 months old.

nity once my husband and I made the decision to live in Waveland. I started small with a goal of attending a city hall meeting once a month and then to join community and civic-related activities and organizations. I have waited three years to qualify for this race because I fervently believe this community is capable of achieving great things.

What specific goals do you have in mind should you win? I have a myriad of goals that I would like to see come to fruition if elected. Here are some in brief:

- recycling program-curb-side recycling -- I think it's great we have the bin on Coleman Avenue, but we need to really look at curb-side recycling. The city had this option before Katrina because my household recycled. I think if curbside was made available, more people would participate

- sidewalk extension down Sears Avenue to the beach -- I can understand the need for a sidewalk along Waveland Avenue to the beach as it's a main artery, however, so is Sears Avenue. After living in my neighborhood for 3 years, there is HUGE need for a sidewalk from the south of the tracks to the end of Sears to the beach. This area is comprised of both residents and weekend homes who take advantage of the short trek to the beautiful beach. Also, this area is home to one of the city's subdivisions, Sundance. To me, it's bizarre that other areas are getting a sidewalk before Sears Avenue. You can drive down this heavily-traveled road any time of the day and see folks walking with their pets or going for a jog. One of the main reasons a sidewalk is needed is for safety reasons. This stretch of road is home to many drivers who want to mimic the track of the Gulfport Dragway. And let's be honest -- most of the time driver's eyes are on their phones and they make a quick jerk of the wheel by the time they notice a pedestrian is at the edge of the street.

- we need to enhance our parks and recreation department and create/develop programming for youth, adults, seniors and families as a whole. We have the space for activities both inside and outside. I feel more events will build upon community involvement, which Waveland lacks.

- we need to enhance our parks and recreation department, and develop programming for youth, adults and families. We have the space for activities (Coleman Avenue) both inside and outside -- more events to build community involvement as we lack that

- need to really enforce our sign ordinances and be aggressive with blighted properties -- I understand the board is taking action on some commercial blight issues now, but I feel we need to have a firm hand on this and really get things moving. There are SO MANY blighted properties -- both commercial and residential -- that need action. As for commercial, the Highway 90 corridor is what people see and remember of Waveland. You have to travel 90 in order to get to the corridors to take you to the beach. First impressions are everything!

- I live in a ward with overgrown lots and blighted residential areas. This needs to be enforced through the proper channels

- I believe we need a citizen notification program -- not everyone has Facebook or other social media channels, and some might not have immediate access to the city's website. We need to implement some type of citizen notification program to alert folks of an issue if it arises -- i.e. a boil-water notice.

- Economic development is a major issue facing Waveland -- more so in our downtown area. I think there are a plethora of issues preventing development on Coleman -- FEMA flood elevation requirements, risky investment for developers -- but one way to start the process on remedying this situation is to create a task force. I believe that notion has been discussed in the past, but it needs to be implemented immediately. We also need to direct our attention to the Highway 90 corridor as well as it houses the two main entrances to our city. For example, the land that is for sale at the intersection of Highway 90 and Waveland Avenue is tainted from an old gas leak from the UST's of the Phillip 66. There is remediation system from the EPA in that parking lot that is literally sucking out the contaminated ground water.

- We need both our local and state leaders to actively FIGHT for the BP funds that were recently allocated to the six coastal counties of Mississippi.

- Lastly, I want to look at how we can corral some Waveland pride. What can we do to make folks proud of Waveland and what would it take for them to start being involved? I have so many questions regarding this topic as my ward had one of the lowest voter turnouts four years ago.

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution? The biggest problem facing the city of Waveland is one of aforementioned points I made regarding economic development and rebuilding our downtown area. I think we need to create a task force who will actively start seeking solutions. We also need to help rebuild Waveland's identity as it never truly recovered from Hurricane Katrina.

What is your overall vision for the city of Waveland? My overall vision for the city of Waveland is for it to be a more sustainable and economically-sound community for our future generations. Also, a place for people to be proud to call their home. With everything I have typed, I honestly believe these goals can be accomplished by having PROACTIVE leadership on this board -- key word being proactive!

Mark Kidd (D):

Bio: Life-long resident of the City of Waveland; Married to Buffie Kidd for 28 years, and have a 22-year-old son named Taylor; Employed with Blossman Gas. Served as Ward 4 Alderman from 2010-2014. Graduate-Certified Municipal Officials Course on November 22,2013.

What specific goals do you have in mind should you win? I will insist that every employee of Waveland be held accountable to the highest of ethical and professional standards. I will insist that all department heads, including myself maintain regular office hours, return all phone call as soon as possible, and meet with residents if requested. I will be proactive in encouraging business to build in Waveland.

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution? Economic Development is my priority, we must bring new business into our city. We must improve to appearance of our city, improve our infrastructure I will work with the other Aldermen and Mayor, to set a 5 year plan.

Kidd

What is your overall vision for the city of Waveland? Keep Waveland moving forward.. Waveland is the gateway to the Mississippi Gulf Coast we must promote business growth for the benefit of the citizens and visitors of Waveland. Experience counts.

Incumbent Charles Piazza (I):

Bio: My name is Charles Piazza, age 59 and a life-long resident of Waveland. I am married to the former Emily Yarborough and we have six children and eight grandchildren. I graduated from St. Stanislaus High School in 1977 and I am a 1979 graduate of Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville.

I served on the Waveland Board of Alderman from 1998 to 2002. I was elected again in 2006 and served until 2010. I am currently serving in the same capacity in which I was reelected for in 2014. In addition to serving the City of Waveland, I have been a full time employee of Textron Marine Land Systems for the past fourteen years.

What specific goals do you have in mind should you win? I have several goals in mind, but the most important one is to overall see Waveland return to pre-Katrina status. In addition, we need to attract businesses and return Coleman Avenue back to the hub of the city.

What do you think is the biggest problem facing the city of Waveland and what would be your solution? Our largest problem is the elevation requirements thrust upon us by FEMA. A solution to this problem would be to ask for assistance from our state, congressional representatives and senators into seeking a method of lowering the elevation requirements. With elevation requirements lowered, Waveland would see more residential -commercial construction.

What is your overall vision for the city of Waveland? My vision is to see a hotel located at the foot of Coleman Avenue. Perhaps one day a casino would be built adjacent to the hotel. This type of vision would bring in additional tax revenue to our city.

The government's business is your business.

And Mississippians count on their newspapers to keep apprised of public notice advertising.

Half of Mississippi adults recall reading or seeing public notice advertising in a local or state newspaper.

And almost half (46%) of adults who have seen public notice advertising prefer to receive them in a printed newspaper, much higher than any other source.

Most Mississippians (87%) say keeping the public informed through public notices and legal advertising is an important requirement for government agencies. And the preferred method of receiving these notices is in a printed newspaper along with their associated websites.

According to a 2013 Advertising and Media Use Survey*, legal ads in printed newspapers have a much higher credibility than other media.

Over 1.5 million Mississippians read their local newspaper. Whether in print, online or on the go, newspapers are the leading source of information for Mississippi.
